Mission Statement

We, the community of St. James, are a prayerful and Eucharistic people who treasure our Catholic traditions.

We strive to grow in our faith by being good stewards of the gifts God has given us; sharing God's truth with all.

As the Body of Christ, we are called to love and serve everyone, especially the marginalized, with joy and hospitality.

Who is St. Lorenzo Ruiz?

You might not know much about the Saint whose statue sits in the back North corner of our Sanctuary. St Lorenzo Ruiz is the first Filipino martyr and saint. Born in Manila in 1594 to a Tagalog Mother and a Chinese Father, who were both Catholic. He was raised under the Dominicans and took shelter with them on a ship headed to Japan after he was falsely accused of murder. In Japan, a brutal regime executed him because of his efforts to bring the faith to the Japanese people. St Lorenzo Ruiz is the patron saint of overseas workers and migrants. He is also the patron saint of the Philippines and the Filipino people.

Join in a celebration of his life and the Filipino culture

This Thursday - September 24 @ 6pm for Mass & Feast Day of St Lorenzo

ALL ARE INVITED to join in celebration following the Mass for a light meal featuring Filipino specialties, games and a raffle.

From the Pastor's Pen

I once visited the home of a person who loved angels. She had depictions of angels all over the house. It seemed like angels were more important to her than Jesus! So let's reflect a bit about angels.

The existence of angels is a long-standing tradition of faith, reaching back to the encounter of the patriarch Abraham. Frequent references to angels follow in both the Hebrew Scripture and the New Testament.

They are depicted as real beings, created by God to carry out God's holy will. They are described as powerful spiritual beings who serve God's purposes. Angels appear as God's messengers, warriors, worshippers, and servants. Many references about angels can be found in the Hebrew Scripture, often depicted in powerful and frightening ways.

We are all familiar with angels in the New Testament. Recall the appearance of the angel Gabriel, announcing to Mary that she was give birth to a Savior, or the angel messengers announcing to the shepherds the birth of a Savior.

How are angels described? In many ways. Sometimes as terrifying, powerful; sometimes as gentle and peaceful. No one knows exactly how they look. Most often they are depicted in human form, having bird-like wings.

Next Tuesday we honor the archangels, Michael, Gabriel, and Raphael: Michael, the great warrior and defender of God's People; Gabriel, God's messenger who gives insight and understanding; Raphael, often remembered as the healer, as recorded in the Book of Tobit.

Then next Friday, October 2, the Church celebrates the feast of the Guardian Angels. The long-standing teaching of the Church is that every person has a guardian angel who gives watchful care. Probably most of us learned the Guardian Angel Prayer in childhood.

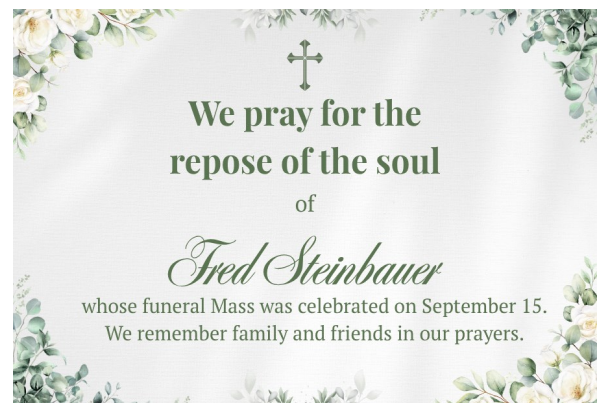

Know that my prayers are with you each day.

Fr. Michael

Meditating Moments

In his book Prayer our Deepest Longing, Fr. Ron Rolheiser writes: "There is no bad way to pray and there is no starting point for prayer... You [simply] have to show up for prayer and you have to show up regularly. Everything else is negotiable and respects your unique circumstances." I know I need communal, liturgical prayer which keeps me connected to the community of fellow believers. I recognize; however, that isn't enough.

Although I have read many books on prayer, and often fall into formulaic prayers such as the "Our Father," I realize that most of my personal prayer is a conversation with God throughout the day. By that, I do not imply that I am speaking to God all day, rather throughout each day I quietly listen to my heart-speech, and simply feel God's loving presence. There are times I sense God speaking. "I love you and all will be well." Other moments, I sense God's embrace and reassurance to accept the goodness of the person I was created to be; never feeling shame for things I cannot change while simultaneously striving to live, surrendering to God's will. When I fail to live according to Jesus's teachings, I know I can reach out in prayer seeking forgiveness and strength to change, to let go of my ego and self-centeredness; to love as Jesus loved.

One of the oldest definitions of prayer is "lifting mind and heart to God." Does this imply that I can only pray when I am not distracted, angry, emotional, or otherwise occupied? St. Therese of Lisieux referred to her "Little Way" as a life of prayer, performing everyday actions and suffering each petty insult or injury in the presence and love of God. I believe that bringing all my thoughts, emotions, joy, trials, lack of understanding, tasks, and desires to God is the most honest personal prayer I can seek. Prayer for me is recognizing God's presence and love even when I feel broken and confused, seeking and trusting in God's guidance, and not being afraid to "put out into the deep," remaining in God's presence in solitude, silence, and sincerity.

I know my prayer-life may seem dull, lacking spiritual insight or intensity. There are times I feel exhausted and confused, yet sharing with God throughout my day brings unfettered emotions, acceptance, and inner peace. I do not possess perfection in my prayer, yet with all my faults, deficiencies, and flaws, I know God loves me and is please with my desire to spend time in prayer, honestly giving myself to accepting that all things are possible with God, even unfathomable things and times of hopelessness and fear.

Your sister in Christ, Sandy Landuyt Gagnon

"...We will be changed." -1 Corinthians 15:51

Yes, change is inevitable, and if you have found yourself puzzled by recent changes in the bulletin here at St James. It might be best to say,

"You ain't seen nothin' yet!" - - but rest at ease.

As you may have read a couple of weeks ago, after faithfully serving for 15 years, Judy Keisling has retired from her position as Bulletin Lady/ Communications Guru for St James. On October 1, Microsoft has created another retirement with the abandonment of support for its Publisher platform, which also faithfully served this publication for many years.

With these two departures, the St. James Bulletin and web site will by necessity be facing change. But we take this moment to remind you that change isn't bad. It's part of the design. I mean, God created seasons didn't He?

This situation MAY mean you'll have to flip a page or two to find the content you use regularly. Items, like Mass intentions, important contacts, the prayer list, birthdays and the like will still be here, but while we're reorganizing you may have to search a bit. Think of it like a scavenger hunt! Maybe you'll see something new!

Our goal is to create an easy to use piece that connects you to prayer, growth and opportunities in our parish. We have a great parish and want everyone to be able to easily access what's going on here! We are working hard to make the transition easy, but we are realistic and know there will be bumps. So, thanks for your patience ahead of time.

In the meantime, if you have any questions or concerns, please feel free to reach out to the same bulletin contact information:

Behold I stand at the door and knock.

—Rev 3:20

If some of you have been feeling, like Jesus, a bit left out in the cold at church this week, we sincerely apologize.

The company running our security had some system wide issues which resulted in our electronic locking system keeping doors locked when they should have been opened.

We really DO want you here! And are working on the problem. We hope to have it fixed soon. In the meantime, we appreciate you offering us grace—just like Jesus.

Thanks.

Dedication to the Sacred Heart of Jesus

St. James Catholic School has followed the example of the USCCB in dedicating itself to the Sacred Heart of Jesus in 2026. Fr. Timothy could recently be seen in classrooms helping kids understand what this means and led the student body in a celebration to mark the dedication.
